CIRCUIT COURT, No. 1-Judge Hoyd. This court met at 9 A. M. yesterday, and

AN IMPORTANT SUGGESTION To the City Council in Regard to the Pro-posed Eight of Way to the Baltimore & ohio Baltroad Company.

The proposition of the Baltimore of Wheeling furnish it with a free right of way through the city for over a mile and a think the cars make a nice cool shade. quarter by a new line running upon, under and across not only public streets and alloys but also through a considerable amount of private property, is one that should not be carelessly acted upon. There can be no doubt that the long promised short line of the B. & O. R. R. Co. will be of great value to the city when completed. It will be especially valuable to our manufacturing interests, provided there will be secured thereby a proper reduction on freights upon coke shipped here from the Connelsville region. Upon this subject of freight rates, however, we find nothing in the proposition submitted by Vice President Keyser. He calls it a proposition, but it has the peculiarity of proposing only what they want the city of Wheeling to do, with the statement added, that "The proposed extension will place the city of Wheeling upon the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and secure to it all the advantages of being the western terminus of one of the great trunk lines of the country." t will be especially valuable to our manunes of the country."
So far as the writer has noticed there

So far as the writer has noticed there has been but one plan suggested for requiring the B. & O. company to give Wheeling manufacturers the benefit of cheap freight rates on coke, and that is to require a clause making it a part of the grant by the city that the B. & O. company shall at all times charge the same rates for freight on coke delivered in Wheeling as in Pittsburgh. The writer respectfully suggests that such a clause, even if theyery manufacturers to whom the coke is to be shipped in the future were parties to the contract, would be difficult to enforce and would be the subject of litigation in a very short time, unless the B. & O. R. B. company should, by reason of competition, or for other considerations, find it to their pecuniary advantage to keep the freight uniary advantage to keep the freight harges down to the rates suggested. As city we should not, in dealing with this

In the act of 1847, authorizing the B. k O. Company to construct its road brough Virginia to Wheeling, the city was permitted to contribute generously to the building of the road, and provision was made for the City of Wheeling being he western terminus of the road. solemn contract made between the city and the comprny in the same year (by which the city was to furnish depot grounds and right of way for the company) it was expressly provided that it was the intention of the parties "to secure to the city of Wheeling the practical benefits of the western terminus of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad according to the provisions of said law." The city afterwards, in 1852, in consideration of $50.000, paid to the company, was released by the comon contract made between the cit he company, was released by the com-pany from its obligation to furnish the lepot grounds and right of way, and the company assumed to procure its own lepot grounds. The other provis-ons of the original contract Idepot grounds and right of way, and the company assumed to procure its own depot grounds. The other provisions of the original contract were not changed. In 1854 the city, having paid the $50,000, and having compiled in all other respects with list part of the contract, brought suit in the Circuit court of Marshall county to restrain the B. & O. Company from making its improvements at Benwood and diverting its trade to Bellaire, and westwardly through Bellaire, instead of giving this city the practical basefils of its western terminus, as agreed in 1847. This city was successful in the lower court, but the Court of Appeals held that the company might make its connection (by boat) at Benwood with the Central Ohio Railroad, under a power which had been granted to make branch connections—leaving Wheeling the terminus of the road, to and from which all through trains run. Bo the "branch" at Benwood was budded. All Wheeling citizens know how the branch has grown, and the main stem or trunk to the Wheeling terminus has withered in comparison. They have heard the warning. "Benwood! Chanse heard the warning."

Even Mr. Keyser, in his communication Even Mr. Keyeer, in biscommunication, practically admits their breach of the original compact by holding out the inducement that if the city will procure another right of way and depot grounds, &c.. this city will be upon the Main Line, and the western terminus of the Trunk.

Now the proposed clause as to future freight rates to future consumers of coke could hardly be made any more binding than was the contract above mentioned, and there is nothing in all our experience with the Baltimore & Ohio Company to indicate that such a clause would be respected for a moment, when it would be spected for a moment, when it would b to the interest of the company to disregard it. It would, perhaps, do no harm to insert it, but there is snother and more practical way to accomplish the same result. The Baltimore & Ohio Railroa suit. The Battimore & Onio Hairoad Company now has a suit pending against the city of Wheeling and the Pittsburgh, Wheeling & Kentucky Rallroad Company in the United States Circuit Court which ought to be settled in connection with this matter. To enable the Pittsburgh, Wheeling & Kentucky Rallroad Company company a right of way, so far as city property was concerned, along the river bank from Wheeling creek to Benwood.

property was concerned, along the river bank from Wheeling creek to Benwood. Soon after this grant was made, the Battimore & Ohio Company, without coasent of the city, commenced laying tracks on public streets over the line of the grant to the other road, obviously and solely for the purpose of obstruction. Because the city resisted their digging in the public streets in plain violation of her ordinances, she was made defendant in injunction suits by the B. & O. Company and charged with being in collusion, conspiracy, &c., with the P., W. & Ky. R. R. Company, the control of the U. S. Court against the city and the P., W. & Ky. R. R. Company there are trivial and ridiculous demands rasde by the B. & O. Company against the city. For example, that company claims (without a stadow of right) that it is entitled to have a deed from the city for a right of way eighty test wite to its present depot. The whole thing is the result of what you in your paper very appropriately called the dog-in-the-manger-policy of the B. & O. R. R. Company.

The P. W. & Ky. road is owned in part by Ohlo county, and at present, with access to but one mill, the county receives about $3.500 per anum in dividends. With access to all the mills it is reasonable to suppose that the county's dividends would be materially increased and the

With access to all the mills it is reasonable to suppose that the county's dividends would be materially increased and the county taxes reduced.

The writer would be glad to see the B. & O. Co.'s short line built through the city, and be glad to have the city give all reasonable sid, but the present 'proposition,' involving as it does a heavy expense to the city, should never be accepted while the B. & O. company is continuing an expensive suit against the city for the sole purpose of preventing competition with itself by another railroad which taps the coke fields. Let us have free railroad competition and judicious municipal aid.
